The BYZANTINE CHORAL INHERITANCE

SCAN ME

The concert program guides the listener through the historic traditions of Byzantine music to new works that draw inspiration from them. The concert will begin with works in Greek from medieval Constantinople, followed by liturgical works by twentieth-century Greek American composers.

Describing The Byzantine Choral Inheritance, Director of the Institute of Sacred Arts, Dr Peter Bouteneff, expressed his appreciation for the work of Cappella Romana, saying, "This event brings a world-class choral ensemble to perform a creative repertoire spanning the old and the new. This will not only be a concert of stunning beauty, it will help make us think on themes of tradition and creativity that are so central to our work at the Institute of Sacred Arts."

Following the concert, there will be a private reception for sponsors and Cappella Romana choir members.
