"Be Attentive" Retreat!

We are excited to announce the upcoming "Be Attentive: Conversations on Vocational Discernment" retreat, scheduled to take place at Hellenic College Holy Cross (HCHC) from October 11-13, 2024. This retreat is designed for men from any Orthodox Christian jurisdiction who are considering the ordained ministry.

As a parish priest, you play a crucial role in recognizing and nurturing vocations. We invite you to encourage those in your community who may be contemplating a vocation to the priesthood to attend this retreat. Additionally, we hope you can identify and reach out to individuals whom you see as potentially developing this calling. At the "Be Attentive" retreat, participants will:

- Engage in directed discussions with fellow participants and eminent clergy.
- Investigate deeply what the Church believes about Holy Orders.
- Explore the true calling and responsibilities of clergy.

Understand the impact of faithful servant ministry in parishes, the Church, and the world.

Last year, our retreats on vocational discernment attracted 34 men considering the path of priesthood. This year, we look forward to welcoming even more participants who are eager to discern their vocation and be attentive to God's voice in their lives.
