Beloved in Christ,

Now that we have solidly entered the new ecclesiastical year, I pray that we have all been seeking to further our spiritual growth and development. As we all know, or should know as Orthodox Christians, we can do nothing without God. In the life of the Church, we know that it is the Holy Spirit of God that energizes and sanctifies all things – both personally and communally. Let us remember, though, that it is up to each of us to continually seek spiritual growth through the power and grace of the Holy Spirit, because it simply cannot happen on our own.

Again, everything we do in the Church is directly affected by the Holy Spirit, most especially the holy mysteries (sacraments), which are energized by God’s Spirit. If we look closely at the priestly prayer offered just prior to the consecration of the bread and wine in the Divine Liturgy, we would notice something very interesting. The prayer directly asks the Holy Spirit to come upon us first, then upon the presented gifts. With this example we should clearly see how the Church constantly seeks to act upon, and sanctify the faithful through God’s Holy Spirit.

In our continued efforts toward spiritual growth, we constantly nourish our souls to allow the seeds of growth to blossom. This, beloved, can only be accomplished through our active participation in the life of the Church, and by how we live our everyday lives in conjunction with the teachings and traditions of the Church.

As a starting point, participation in the services of the Church is paramount for spiritual renewal. The Church is our Mother who teaches us how to live the life in Christ. In order to learn and grow, we must be under the “Mother’s” wings as much as possible. Participation in the entire liturgy allows for hearing the Word of God through Scripture, as well as the possibility of more frequent participation in the Eucharist – the crowning holy sacrament of the Church. A periodic “dropping-in” when motivated to do so is a noble attempt, but can never fully sustain a more wholistic spiritual life.

Those who seek frequent church attendance will also be more likely to pray throughout the week, and to keep the fast days and periods of the liturgical year. Again, the motherly role of the Church is to teach us a life of prayer, starting in church and continuing in our homes. True Orthodox worship is communal prayer and interaction with the living God, led by the priest on behalf of the people. The Church also teaches us the importance of the venerable practice of fasting to aid our spiritual growth. A prayer-life that stems from the example of the Church is absolutely necessary for continued spiritual growth, which is enhanced and reinforced through the practice of prayer and fasting in our homes.

Those seeking on-going spiritual growth would also see the importance of celebrating, whenever possible, the various feast days of the liturgical year. This would include the great feasts of Christ and the Theotokos, as well as the feast days of major saints. In addition to these feasts, the most focused time of the liturgical year is Great Lent – a time for all to actively participate as much as possible.

The more we become regular participants in church services and maintain an active prayer life, the more we will be able to overcome the temptation of being mere spectators in services. As we become more spiritually focused, we will also understand the need for active and frequent participation in the sacramental life of the Church. True spiritual growth must include periodic confession and reconciliation with God, which is the door to salvation. The soul also needs its spiritual nourishment – Holy Communion – without which it will starve, and can eventually lead to spiritual death. Frequently communing when properly prepared must be emphasized, because this has always been the teaching of the Orthodox Church, strikingly opposite of what we may have been taught growing up.

A spiritually renewed parishioner would also have a clear understanding that the celebration of the Divine Liturgy is the central activity of the parish, and that everything else that happens in parish life is supplemental. When we have a correct focus on the liturgical life of the Church, we make it a point to be in church as much as possible, and then be involved in other church ministries and activities as we are able – not the other way around.

Now, if a parish is spiritually renewed and open to the saving work of the Holy Spirit, then it will seek to bring other sheep into the fold. We should be able to bring any non-Orthodox friend, relative, or neighbor to our church, and know that he/she will be welcomed. We have been blessed at the Annunciation to welcome many visitors and inquirers in our midst for some time now, and I must state, that they always comment on the warmth with which they were welcomed.

Finally, my brothers and sisters in Christ, you may ask why I am strongly emphasizing all the above matters of faith. There is one simple reason – our salvation! The goal of the Church of Christ is to save souls, and this is the main concern of every parish priest. The Church is our true home where we are nourished and prepared for eternal life and salvation. We have been given all the tools necessary for this journey from the day of our baptism and chrismation. Now that we find ourselves in the new ecclesiastical year of grace, let us turn toward God and seek all these things brought to our attention. May our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ keep and protect all of you in His unending love and mercy!

In Christ,

+Fr. Anthony

Spiritual Wisdom

He who is humble in his thoughts and engaged in spiritual work, when he reads the Holy Scriptures, will apply everything to himself and not to his neighbor. (St. Mark the Ascetic)

The enemy often wounds our souls by his malice and burns us. This wound spreads like a gangrene in the heart if we do not stop it in time by the sincere prayer of faith. And God wounds our souls by His love, but this wound is light, sweet, not burning, but warming and vivifying. (St. John of Kronstadt)

Christians must arm themselves against the immorality of this world. Armor is not made in a day or two, but is carefully and laboriously forged by a lengthy process. What are all our virtues worth if we succumb at the first temptation? (St. Nikolai Velimerovich)

If someone neglects the little things, the danger is that he'll start neglecting greater, holier things. And then, without realizing it, rationalizing it all to himself – 'This is nothing, that doesn't matter' – he can end up, God forbid, totally neglecting the things of God and becoming irreverent, arrogant, and atheistic. (Elder Paisios the Athonite)

Orthodox Life Sessions

Starting this month, I will resume Orthodox Life sessions periodically as coffee hours wind down. These will always be pre-announced in the weekly e-bulletins published each Friday. This is a wonderful opportunity for parishioners and inquirers to learn more about the Orthodox Faith, and to ask questions as well!

Regarding Inquirers in Our Midst

The following is a reflection by Fr. Daniel Triant, Presiding Priest at Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church in Spokane, WA. I felt that this is a very appropriate message to share, since we too, are blessed with the same phenomenon here at the Annunciation.

I don't know if you have noticed, but we're growing. By "we," I mean the Orthodox Church in the United States. That growth is coming from within, but even more so it is coming from the outside. We are seeing an influx of inquirers of Orthodoxy. This is not unique to one or two parishes, it is happening across the country. I have spoken with many of my brother priests and their experience is the same. There is no longer a need to go "into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in" (Lk 23). People are coming of their own volition, and they are hungry - for Truth, for Life, and for the Love of Jesus Christ. While this is an exciting prospect, the question I constantly ask myself is, are we ready to receive them?

On Pentecost, the disciples were filled with the Holy Spirit and they preached the Gospel to anyone within earshot. With a few simple words "about three thousand souls were added to them." (Acts 2:41). That's a 2,400% increase! I have often thought about what I would do if this happened in our mid-sized parish. How long would it take to assimilate that many people into it? My usual response is to tell myself something like, "Luckily that would never happen, so you don't have to worry about it."

But now, it's happening! We're not growing by 2,400%, but we are certainly seeing people coming in the tens, twenties, and thirties. This is cause for excitement, but, also, to stop and think about how we will respond to this new demand. Some parishes have structured catechism classes, and in others the priests carry the bulk of that task. But book learning only takes one so far. Our faith is not just belief in our head, but a deep experience of Christ through the constant action in our lives. This is not just the work of one or two people, but our entire community. This is evident in the early Church - "Now all who believed were together, and had all things in common, and sold their possessions and goods, and divided them among all, as anyone had need. So continuing daily with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from house to house, they ate their food with gladness and simplicity of heart, praising God and having favor with all the people. And the Lord added to the Church daily those who were being saved." (Acts 2:44-47).

The Church didn't start with catechism classes. It started with the experience of Christ. The people gathered together and were fed by Him first, so that they could go forth and share with the world what they'd been given. As the Church grew over the centuries, the Holy Spirit revealed more to the faithful, and a more robust catechism was necessary. But this was never a replacement for the fundamental action of the Church - to worship, receive Him, and give that to those who don't have it.

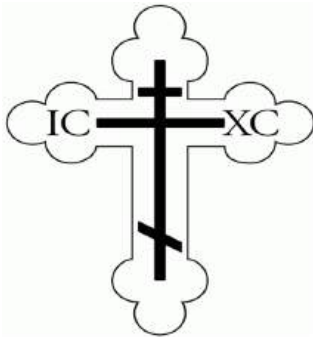

I was born into an Orthodox family who received the faith for generations. I grew up knowing what to do because everyone around me, in my family and my parish, knew what to do. I didn't always know the "why," but the experience was deeply rooted. We crossed ourselves a certain way, we prayed certain prayers in our home, we fasted, and we went to Church at odd times according to the rest of the world. The many things we sometimes take for granted that inform our faithfulness, were inherent.

People new to the faith have none of this, except what they may have read in a book or an article on the internet (perilous as that may be). What class can we offer that teaches them what we often refer to now as "the fullness of the faith?" They have no family to learn from. Who will teach them the experience we learned from our families? All of us! Every one of the faithful.

We may not all be theologians, but we all have an experience of Christ. The Holy Spirit we have inside of us is the same Holy Spirit that rested on the disciples, the same Holy Spirit that brought them together to worship and experience Christ. It is incumbent upon us to grow deeper connection in our own lives, so we might offer it to all of those seeking the knowledge of the Truth, and that our Lord continues to add daily to those who are saved.

PARISH NEWS AND EVENTS

Conflicts with Church Services

As we request each new ecclesiastical year, parish organizations and ministries should not schedule meetings or workshops simultaneously with any church service. The main purpose of our existence is worship of the living God, which always takes precedence over everything else. Please always check the parish calendar, or contact the church office for guidance. Thanks to all for your anticipated cooperation.

STEWARDSHIP COMMITTEE

Stewardship Committee News

Our Stewardship Committee this year consists of Steve and Emily Poole, Hope and Michael Frudakis, Kimon and Vula Lalas, Stephen and Lisa Primes. This is a fantastic group of people and I am genuinely excited about the opportunity to work together with them for the glory of God and the good of our community. Thanks to everyone for volunteering to serve.

Our Parish Stewardship theme for 2024 is “Well Done, Good and Faithful Servant,” from the Parable of the Talents. We are all blessed with certain gifts. This parable stresses the importance of developing our gifts, multiplying them, and offering them back in service to God. Your Stewardship committee is grateful for the opportunity to serve, and we will be working in the coming days to share with you myriad opportunities to practice faithful stewardship.

Stewardship matters because when all is said and done, the ultimate goal of every Orthodox Christian is to one day stand before the Lord and hear him say, “Well Done, Good and Faithful Servant, ...enter into the joy of the Lord!”!

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Parishioners,

As the crisp fall air settles in, it's a wonderful time to reflect on the changing season and the blessings we've shared throughout the year. October is always a busy and vibrant month for our parish, filled with fellowship and opportunities to grow together.

I am excited to share that this year's Greek Festival was a tremendous success, raising over $110,000! This achievement is a true testament to the hard work, dedication, and unity of our community. Thank you to everyone who volunteered, participated, and supported this event in any way. Your efforts help keep our parish thriving and strong.

Looking ahead, we have several exciting events this month. On October 5th, we'll host the International Food Tasting in the Father Athans Hall—always a favorite, bringing flavors from around the world to our doorstep. Later in the month, on October 24th, we'll gather for Orthodoxy on Tap at Anatolia in Somersworth, offering a chance for casual fellowship and meaningful conversations. And on Tuesday, October 29th, our church will host Dover Friendly Kitchen—volunteers are always welcome to join us at St. Thomas Episcopal Church across the street from our own.

Additionally, as fall settles in, we are preparing for Parish Council Elections. For the upcoming elections, there are three open seats for the 2025-2026 term. We are seeking dedicated individuals to join and help guide our parish into the future. Serving on the council is an incredibly rewarding experience, and I encourage anyone interested to reach out for more information. Your involvement is vital to the continued growth and success of our church.

As we move through this beautiful season of fall, let's embrace the spirit of service and fellowship that defines our community. I look forward to seeing you at our upcoming events, and working together to make the rest of the year just as fruitful.

Thank you again for your continued commitment and support!

Best regards,
Kulin Krishnan
Parish Council President

CHURCH SCHOOL

The blessing of our children on the first day of Church School .

Dear Parents of Church School Children,

I truly feel both honored and blessed to have the responsibility of being a Church School teacher for the older elementary children this year. It is a blessing to serve in this capacity with Ms. Jess and Ms. Nancy. As I have discussed with Father, my primary goal is to help the children memorize some of the prayers of our holy and ancient tradition. This means Homework! Of course, this is not meant to be a burden, but rather an opportunity for parents to engage in prayer with their children on a daily basis.

It is my hope that through the practice of praying with our children, we will all be reminded of Christ's insistence that we approach Him like a child. We already practice this as a Church. Each time we line up for communion the children go first. Fr. Anthony and I have spoken about how symbolic this is, that we adults also approach the Lord as an innocent children. When we stand in line for communion, I often think of how we are literally following them to our Savior.

Blessings, Mark Canney

GOYA

There are plans to have a GOYA event at least once a month for the foreseeable future! We had six wonderful girls attend our kickoff event in September. They seemed to have had a superb time socializing and getting to know each other. If you have a teen, please be encouraged to send them along to our next event in the parish hall, Friday October 11, at 6:00 pm. It will be a fun night of pizza (cheese and veggie to respect the fast for children) and games. We could also use help if you are interested in being a GOYA leader. If interested, please contact the church office.

ANNUNCIATION YOUNG ADULTS

Blessed Autumn! Please pray for Cyprian as he is currently traveling in Cyprus this first week of October. He is visiting many monasteries, churches, relics, and tombs on this pilgrimage.

Our fall Orthodoxy on Tap will take place on Thursday, 10/24 at 6:00 pm, at Anatolia Restaurant in Somersworth. Our guest presenter will be Fr. Nicholas Livingston, Fr. Anthony's son-in-law, of the Annunciation Church in Woburn, MA.

The AYA is also planning another visit to St Nektarios Monastery. We would like to start planning in October for a November visit.

Dear Parish Family,

I hope my message finds you well and filled with joy after the success of our recent festival. What an incredible event! A special thank you to our amazing co-chairs, Robert Mitropoulos and Rebecca MacNamee, whose hard work and dedication truly motivated all our volunteers to give their very best. Their leadership was instrumental in making the festival a grand success.

As we enter the new ecclesiastical year, I want to take a moment to reflect on our community's blessings and the opportunities that lie ahead. I am excited about the events we have planned!

Please save the date for our Dinner Dance at the Hellenic Center on November 9th, featuring live music by OPA, as well as our annual Pastry Sale Fundraiser on November 23rd. Stay tuned for more details on both events!

This past June, we held our first 5K Walk-A-Thon, suggested by our very own Rosie O'Hearne. It was a fantastic success, raising $1,300, half of which was donated to 68 Hours of Hunger along with non-perishable food items collected by the parish. Thank you to all our donors for making this event possible. We not only supported a worthy charity but also enjoyed a wonderful morning filled with laughter, culminating in iced coffee and donuts at our local Dunkin's. We hope to see you next year!

For those new to our parish, Alkistis is the Ladies Association of the Annunciation Greek Orthodox Church, dedicated to supporting Father Anthony, the Parish Council, our Church Committees and the wider community. All ladies of our parish are members of Alkistis, and we invite you to bring your ideas and suggestions to our next meeting in October.

Please keep an eye on your email for the official announcement of the meeting date and details. Together, we can continue to build a vibrant and engaging community for everyone involved!

Thank you for your support and enthusiasm.

Warm regards,
